1.
One character that appears in this show is a purple, elderly woman who experiences time repeatedly and nonlinearly and relives the death of her friend by baking a pie. A helpful hologram is revealed to have evil intentions as her code requires that she fulfill the goals of the Heart of Etheria Project. The Winter Olympics tragically prevented my final rewatch of this 2018 show, which was removed from Netflix on February 20th, 2026. This fantasy series with a soft magic system experiences a sudden genre shift at the invasion of an intergalactic army made up of clones. What is widely regarded to be the best episode of this show occurs in the final season and is titled "Save the Cat." The final episode of this show includes a monumental moment in queer representation in children's media in which an epic friends to enemies to friends to lovers arc is concluded with a love confession and a kiss between primary protagonist Adora and primary antagonist Catra. For ten points, name the animated TV show that follows Adora and her friends as they fight fascism using the power of friendship and a magical sword that turns its wielder into a mythical 8 foot tall lesbian warrior.
ANSWER: She-ra and the Princesses of Power
<Emma>

2.
This woman names a praying mantis species that was the first to be characterized by its female genitalia. In an episode of "The Good Place," the "craziest secret celebrity hookup" is revealed to be between Drake and this woman. After this woman stated, "Now the court, I fear, has ventured into a minefield," Jonathan Mann sampled her dissent in Burwell vs. Hobby Lobby Stores Inc. in a track calling this woman (*) "notorious." After being denied the ability to complete her Harvard Law degree while living in New York City, this person transferred to Columbia and became the first woman to be on two major law reviews. For 10 points, name this second female Supreme Court Justice, after Sandra Day O'Connor.
ANSWER: Joan Ruth Bader Ginsburg [or RBG; accept "Notorious R.B.G."]
<Simarya>

3.
The fashion choice of Countess Bathory in her first scene in the 1971 film Daughters of Darkness is inspired by this famous actress's looks in their first scene of a drama about a prostitute in Shanghai who crosses paths with an old lover. One of this actress's final appearances on film would be a scene in which she talks with the main character, played by David Bowie, though her scenes were never shot in the same city (*) and set as Bowie's. The actress was also the subject and title of one of the songs that appeared in the 2021 album Cavalcade by Black Midi. For 10 points, name this German actress who inspired pop culture icons like Madonna and appeared in films like Morocco, Destry Rides Again, and Witness for the Prosecution.
Answer: Marlene Dietrich (Marie Magdalene Marlene Dietrich is also acceptable).
<Erik>

4.
This series' love interests include the protagonist's best friend's brother, who founds a band called Skinner Box, and a man initially known as "The Guy Who Hates It When They Put Corn In the Chili." One character in this series has his magazine, Crackhead, canceled due to uproar after he claimed Linux is better than Windows; his sister has a public access television show that becomes inexplicably popular in South Korea. In the first book in this series, Mia befriends Tina Hakim Baba, the daughter of a Saudi oil sheikh, after they bond over their shared isolation from their classmates. She has a contentious relationship with her grand-mère, a severe woman who refuses to speak English as she believes it is a vulgar language. Mia becomes the heir to a fictional Mediterranean country after her father is rendered sterile by testicular cancer in this series, despite being illegitimate and growing up as a commoner in New York City. For 10 points, name this book series authored by Meg Cabot wherein Mia Thermopolis discovers she is the heir to the throne of Genovia.
ANSWER: Princess Diaries
<Annabelle>

5.
This species produces a type of milk, which it feeds to its young who live with other juveniles in a creche. A homosexual individual of this species named Freddie Mercury can be visited at the Denver Zoo. This species is primarily found in the Caribbean, but small numbers regularly occur in Florida, and individuals have been spotted as far north as Wisconsin. Parents of this species build a volcano shaped nest out of mud in which they lay a single egg. This species is highly social, with a colony of 80,000 individuals recorded in Cuba. A friend of mine was surprised to learn that this species can fly, and in fact they may fly up to 50 miles to forage each day. Individuals of this species were photographed sheltering in a restroom at the Miami Zoo during Hurricane Andrew. Juveniles of this species lack their parents' vibrant coloration, which develops over the course of three years due to their diet. For ten points, name this bright pink species of bird that is commonly used as a lawn ornament.

ANSWER: American Flamingo [prompt on Flamingo]
<Emma>

6.
According to a whiteboard photographed in ECE 215, this action was undertaken 16 times in binary. While attempting to perform this action 100 times, a former student of Lowell F. Thompson came to the conclusion that "sometimes you forget scientists are people." In defense of the author of "A Poem of Friendship" being a notable figure and an acceptable catfishing submission, the person who suggested the article argued, (*) "it's not my fault you can't [do this action]." During a bonus of Girltrash 2025, Euan McCubbin was told to do this action with regards to important winners of the Nobel Prize of Medicine. For 10 points, name this action that members of UW Quizbowl struggle with and sometimes receive misogyny points for.
ANSWER: name a woman [accept word forms]
<Simarya>

7.
This band is often thought to be a single person but actually refers to a band, named for a duo, with two additional seemingly permanent band members, though members have changed in the past, and some later additions have been part of the band for over 8 years now, bringing the total number of members to 8. This band's contralto singer has received public attention for her Stevie Nicks-esque manner of dress at her live performances. This band is often defined as indie rock, or indie pop, but the members define the band in a more varied manner, with the lead vocalist comparing their music to the art of Renaissance artists, stating "We're dealing with all of the same things they did: love and death, time and pain, heaven and hell." This band's debut album (*) Lungs contains many of their most famous songs, including one that was featured in both Gray's Anatomy, and Vampire Diaries. For ten points, name this band, whose red-haired main singer sings "I'll be your demon daddy" in their song Choreomania.

ANSWER: Florence + The Machine (Pronounced: Florence and The Machine) [Reject 'florence plus the machine']
<Stormie>

8.
The idea for this book arose after the publishing company's founder read an article about its subject on a plane ride; she took the article out and gave it to the editor of this book with an attached sticky note that said "WE NEED TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT THIS NOW." This book, though the first edition was released in 1998, has been on the New York Times Bestseller list multiple times, including as recently as 2016. The author of this book described the tone as that of a "cool aunt" who remembers how confusing it is to be an adolescent. One edition of this book includes a section with reader-submitted questions and answers, one of which says that no, eating pasta will not make your boobs grow faster. One section of this book, which the author of this tossup dog-eared because they looked at it so often, has a diagram of the stages of breast development. For 10 points, what illustrated book might your mom have given you around ages 8-10 to explain puberty to you?
ANSWER: The Care and Keeping of You (accept the American Girl Puberty book or similar answers)
<Annabelle>

9.
Note to moderator: Artist and series name required.
One of these works portraying a smiling purple and gold cat is subtitled "I am happy because everyone loves me <3", in a parody of a better-known piece by Louis Wain. In one of these works, a brown dog draped in a pink hijab smiles demurely at the camera; that work is titled "Being chronically online." This Belgian-made collection has two sister series as of the time of writing that feature "liquids" and "crimes." One of the more serious pieces in this collection is titled "AIDS" and depicts rows of mostly burnt-out lightbulbs, with a dark swath running diagonally across it. One of the less serious pieces in this collection is titled "Celiac Disease" and depicts a loaf of bread flying towards the Twin Towers. For ten points, name this series of works posted to Twitter whose namesake afflictions include "Being a little bit sleepy," "League of Legends," and "Heterosexuality."

ANSWER: "Mental illness as paintings" by Schmrgl
<Phoebe>

10.
This animal originally evolved in North America and was once extinct there, but was reintroduced on the second voyage of Christopher Columbus. One of Nova Scotia's official animals is a variety of this animal that lives on Sable Island. Wild varieties of this odd-toed ungulate include the extinct tarpan and the endangered* Przewalski's[pr-zhe-vahl-ski's], while feral varieties include the Chincoteague[chin-co-teeg] and brumby. When domesticated, this member of the genus Equus[ee-kwus] is often separated into sport and draft types. For 10 points, what animal names a subset of "girls" who ride them?

Answer: horse [accept pony, especially at "Chincoteague", where you say "those who know Misty"]
<Anya>

11.
"Crowned Jewels" is a collection of these items designed by Kim Kassas. In her song "Speak Now," Taylor Swift describes one of these items as being shaped like a pastry. Liz Martinez, Danielle Frankl, and Pnina Tornai are other notable designers of these items. Common shapes of these items include trumpet, mermaid, and a-line. Cristina Yang is cut out of one of these items by her friend Meredith Grey, who later tries on these items for her ailing friend Izzy Stevens. In the first episode of Friends, Rachel enters a New York coffee shop wearing one of these items. One might purchase one of these items at Kleinfeld's, possibly with the assistance of Randy Fenoli. That New York based boutique is the setting of a TLC reality TV show titled "Say Yes to the Dress." For ten points, name these often white garments typically worn by brides one the day they get married.
ANSWER: Wedding Dress [prompt on dress]
<Emma>

12.
In one video, Mic the Snare declares, "My name is George W. Bush and I love [this singer]!" while wearing a mask with George W. Bush's face. In that same video, he notes that a song by this singer is in the same key as All Star by Smash Mouth. This singer's entire discography was found on a Spotify playlist made by (*) Luigi Mangione. In 2018, a Tumblr post that received 57,000 notes petitioned for this singer to be given a sword. Another song by this singer features a character saying that he's "probably gonna harvest your organs". Later that year, she received her first sword while performing her song Cut to the Feeling. For 10 points, name this eponymous singer who is mentioned in every first line and lead in of an ACRONYM packet.
ANSWER: Carly Rae Jepsen
<Anneliese>

13.
This woman names a praying mantis species that was the first to be characterized by its female genitalia. In an episode of "The Good Place," the "craziest secret celebrity hookup" is revealed to be between Drake and this woman. After this woman stated, "Now the court, I fear, has ventured into a minefield," Jonathan Mann sampled her dissent in Burwell vs. Hobby Lobby Stores Inc. in a track calling this woman (*) "notorious." After being denied the ability to complete her Harvard Law degree while living in New York City, this person transferred to Columbia and became the first woman to be on two major law reviews. For 10 points, name this second female Supreme Court Justice, after Sandra Day O'Connor.
ANSWER: Joan Ruth Bader Ginsburg [or RBG; accept "Notorious R.B.G."]
<Simarya>

14.

This hobby, art form, and sometimes profession has independent roots around the world, though it is thought that the earliest example was in ancient Egypt 4000 years ago. The author primarily practices the English form of this hobby, with this form being characterized by 360 degree viewability, and decorative value. This can be contrasted with the Japanese form of this activity, which is often imbued with Buddhist philosophy, and whose origins are in spiritual purposes and temple worship. The Japanese version of this art form can be used to convey intention or even messages, though many cultures assign meaning to this art form, including famously Europeans during the Victorian period, coining a (*) 'language' based on this practice. For ten points, name this craft where the practitioner creates objects of decoration like boutonnières, bouquets, wreaths, and more.

Floral Arrangement, Floristry, Floral Design, or any variation (Reject horticulture, etc)
<Deeksha>

15.
Tossup: In episode 2 of the Pitt, Dr. Mel King recites the chorus of a song written by this woman as a mantra in order to focus and steel herself before she is interrupted by an incoming gunshot wound victim. A guest verse on a 2021 hit featuring this rapper includes the line "They must be giving Stevie if they ever had to Wonder". In February 2026, a photo of this woman on set of "The Fall and Rise of Reggie Dinkins" alongside * Daniel Radcliffe went viral as the internet labeled it an unlikely yet humorous pairing. This rapper made a cameo appearance in the 2024 film Mean Girls, which she co-wrote the song "Not My Fault" for. For 10 points, who is this rapper behind the "Hot Girl Summer" song/phenomenon and the number one single "WAP" alongside Cardi B?
Ans: Megan Thee Stallion (or Megan Jovon Ruth Pete)
<Ali>

16.
A recent one of these concepts was 'catalyzed' by the death of Andre Leon Talley, and was based on the work of Monica Miller. Rihanna executed one of these concepts by wearing a papal mitre to an event that the then Archbishop Timothy Dolan attended. Many of these concepts involve highlighting the work of specific artists, such as Rei Kawakubo, Karl Lagerfield, and Jacqueline Kennedy. Since 2006, these concepts have been largely dictated by Andrew Bolton, who runs the(*) Anna Wintour Costume Center. Notable recent examples of these concepts include China: Through the Looking Glass, Superfine: Tailoring Black Style and Camp: Notes on Fashion. For 10 points, what concept dictates the dress code on the "First Monday in May" to the largest American art museum's biggest annual fundraiser.

ANSWER: Met Gala Theme [I can't be bothered to do a real answerline use ur judgment]
<Euan>

17.
Note to players: Specific term required. A treatise defining the first one of these things quotes an Ursula K. Le Guin commencement speech in which she argues that women should be erupting volcanoes. As the author of that treatise pushed for committing one of these actions, she recalled visiting the Vilina Vlas spa and learning about its history as a rape camp during the Bosnian War. While outlining the fifth one of these things, the founder of the Feminist Giant newsletter claimed that (*) "men are not my yardstick," and described the varying responses to Amina Wadud being the first woman to lead the Jum'ah. Anger, attention, profanity, ambition, power, violence, and lust are, for 10 points, what actions that title a 2019 manifesto by Mona Eltahawy?
ANSWER: the seven necessary sins for women and girls [prompt on partial answers]
<Simarya>

18.
Author Barbara Ehrenreich argued that the expression of this condition was "the first and most dramatic uprising of women's sexual revolution." Though this condition is often compared to or described as "hysteria," a 1966 study from the British Journal of Clinical Psychology found that those infected did not tend to score more highly on the Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory's "hysteria scale." Phil Spector produced a song about a subset of people with this condition who could often be seen standing outside 3 Savile Row in Central London. That song is (*) "Apple Scruffs." One of those people with this condition inspired the song "She Came In Through The Bathroom Window" after breaking into the writer's home and stealing a framed photograph, which was later returned. That song is the fifth song in its album's iconic "Medley." For ten points, name this condition that infected those who may have believed their favorite band was "bigger than Jesus."

ANSWER: Beatlemania
<Sofia>

19.
The music video for one song by this artist features an instance of real life "distracted boyfriend meme" caused by this artist striding around naked in public. Big Freedia offhandedly mentions that they "Got you gag-a gag-a gagging when you choking on my stuff" on a track where this artist sings "you wear your heart inside your pants". This artist bleeds out in a bathtub while wearing a latex body suit in the music video for a song featuring the lyrics "Don't bring Cathy, she's a cunt |That bitch would embarrass us". That song is (*) "I Love Hollywood". This artist featured Ayesha Erotica on their song "BFF", that track is from their self titled mixtape which Ayesha helped produce. The album Starfucker is by, for 10 points, what hypersexual hyperpop artist who claims to have been "fucking models" on their track "Daddy AF".

ANSWER: Slayyyter [or Catherine Grace Garner]
<Euan>

20.
The actor who portrayed this character was discovered after their appearance in the music video for Aerosmith's "Cryin'". This character is rejected by a gay man while she is watching Spartacus at her house. An iconic outfit worn by this character is described as "a nod to a (*) Catholic schoolgirl uniform… and turned designer". After she is left in a gas station parking lot, this character is forced to call her step-brother away from a hookup. This character uses a garden party in an allegory to argue for accepting Haitian migrants in her debate class. For 10 points, name this protagonist of Clueless.
ANSWER: Cher Horowitz
<Sasha>

21.
Niche internet microcelebrity and "Anora" star Ivy Wolk has a tattoo of this person on her arm even though they stole 45 dollars from her through Depop, which Wolk described as "part of the experience." This person is associated with the rise of the fashion style Kinderwhore, in which girlish or childlike fashion items are juxtaposed against edgier, more adult punk fashions. The style originated in the band Pagan Babies, which this person was in with Babes in Toyland's Kat Bjelland before starting the band they are most associated with today. Despite having a shared enemy, this person signed an open letter calling for action against Patti Lupone after her "bullying" of Audra McDonald. Their shared enemy is (*) Madonna, who this woman threw a compact at during an interview at the 1995 VMAs. This woman accused Olivia Rodrigo of ripping off her band's cover for the album "Live Through This," which features Leilani Bishop in beauty pageant attire with mascara tear tracks running down her face. For ten points, name this guitarist and lead singer of the grunge band "Hole."
ANSWER: Courtney Love
<Sofia>

Bonuses

As wise Tumblr user Discoursethot once lusted over a man who asked them what kind of animal the pink panther is, so too has this author identified as a "moronsexual." For 10 points each, objectify some men by answering the following:
[10e] Big Boi says he's "feelin' like" one of these people in the Outkast song "The Way You Move". In a masculinized version of "gaslight, gatekeep, girlboss," this word sometimes accompanies mansplain and manipulate.
ANSWER: Manwhore
[10h] This actor was featured on the cover of a 1995 magazine that read, "Attack of the male bimbos." One character portrayed by this actor is called, "young, dumb, and full of cum" in Point Break.
ANSWER: Keanu Reeves
[10m] On the "Like a Virgin" album cover, Madonna wears a belt buckle that says this term. This word is most commonly used to describe a younger man in a relationship.
ANSWER: Boytoy
<Haylee>

You have bewitched me body and soul. For 10 points each, answer the following about Keira Knightly period pieces directed by Joe Wright.
[10e] Matthew Macfadyen stars alongside Knightley in this film— Wright's directorial debut— released in 2005.
ANSWER: Pride and Prejudice
[10h] Wright controversially set most of the drama of this adaptation on a theatre stage. While the 2012 film met mixed reviews, Knightly's performance as this titular character was largely applauded.
ANSWER: Anna Karenina
[10m] Keira Knightley also starred in Wright's adaptation of Atonement by Ian McEwan. In Atonement, Knightley wears this oft-discussed garment while having sex with Robbie. Replicas of this garment have sold for over $30,000.
ANSWER: The green dress [prompt on dress by asking "what color was it?"]
<Haylee>

It turns out that there's a lot of ways to spell Katherine! For 10 points each:
[10h] Kathrin Crowell appears in a painting by this artist, where she poses with a kitten. She was engaged to this artist before dying of meningitis.
ANSWER: Thomas Eakins
[10e] Katharine Towne, who spells her name differently from Kathrin Crowell, plays Sinead in this movie. This movie inspired the music video for Silk Chiffon by MUNA.
ANSWER: But I'm a Cheerleader
[10m] Katherine Jenkins signed the most lucrative contract in United Kingdom classical recording history by singing "Una voce poco fa", a coloratura aria from this opera.
ANSWER: The Barber of Seville (accept Il barbiere di Siviglia, accept The Useless Precaution)
<Anneliese>

Answer these questions about songs with bodies of water in the title. For 10 points each:
[10m] "pond song" is a song by this British indie rock band. Its main vocalists are Rhian Teasdale and Hester Chambers.
ANSWER: Wet Leg
[10h] Dora Jar compares her love to one of these bodies of water. Ironically, she then goes on to say that it is "too deep to be known by you".
ANSWER: lagoon
[10e] Caroline Polachek sings that "the only thing that's separating you and me tonight" is one of these bodies of water "of tears" in a song of the same name.
ANSWER: ocean
<Anneliese>

Ghoulfriends, mansters, and non-boo-nary people of UWQB, are you ready for a scary fun bonus? Well, it doesn't matter if you are or not! It's time to talk about ghouls with a passion for fashion!
[10m] This character, whose design is inspired by gothic lolita fashion, throws a giant party in a secret room at Monster High to celebrate her sweet 1600th birthday. Despite being a vampire, she is a vegan, and feels squeamish at the site of blood.

ANSWER: Draculaura
[10h] This popular companion to and spin-off of Monster High had a doll line, webseries, movie, and several series of books. Fans of this franchise shipped main characters Raven Queen and Apple White after one saved the other with true love's kiss.
ANSWER: Ever After High
[10e] This toy company produced both Monster High and Ever After High. Some speculate that Ever After High was canceled because this company's licensing contract with the Disney corporation was at risk.
ANSWER: Mattel
<Annabelle>

Long before Greta Gerwig's Barbie, little girls everywhere watched Barbie's adventures in different ways-- lots and lots of different ways. For 10 points each, answer the following about Barbie-related media.
[10e] In this 16th Barbie movie, Barbie portrays Corinne, who, along with Viveca, Aramina, and Renee, train under Helene to eventually defeat King Louis's scheming advisor, Philippe, who is voiced by Tim Curry by the way. This Barbie movie is based on a similarly-named Alexandre Dumas story.
ANSWER: Barbie and the Three Musketeers
[10m] In this web series, a sentient robot known as Closet sees Ken as his father and occasionally wreaks havoc upon Barbie and her friends in her Malibu mansion. In this show, characters frequently make references to the "schlondpoofa," a nonsensical name for a car muffler.
ANSWER: Barbie: Life in the Dreamhouse
[10h] As a child, the author of this bonus related heavily to this Barbie: Life in the Dreamhouse character, Barbie's childhood friend from Willows, Wisconsin, who originally is depicted in black and white. She often engages in behaviors others view as odd, such as bringing her macrame project to the beach and obsessively checking the chlorine levels of Barbie's pool at a pool party.
ANSWER: Midge
<Annabelle>

Misogyny is a human construct. For ten points each, answer these questions about girlboss birds.
1. Sexual dimorphism in birds typically results in colorful males and bland females. This group of birds reverses that trend, and females even make their mates provide all the childcare. Name this group of birds that can be found spinning in the Great Salt Lake, who have names such as Red, Red-necked, and Wilson's.

ANSWER: Phalarope
2. The avian world's coolest absentee mothers such as cowbirds and cuckoos engage in this practice where they lay their eggs in the nests of other birds, often resulting in the death of that bird's young.

ANSWER: Brood Parasitism
3. For a controversial age gap relationship, look to a bird of this type named Wisdom, who has a much younger mate and is still sexually active at the age of 70. Other things these birds are known for are their prolonged flights at sea and their massive wingspan.

ANSWER: Albatross
<Emma>

Barbie isn't just a doll, she's a cinematic icon with a movie universe superior to the MCU. For ten points each: name the following Barbie movies that I personally owned and watched as a child.
1. "Left-een, left-eroo," is my father's favorite quotation from this film and is spoken by a sentient fungus who is being led astray by a kidnapped mermaid prince named Nalu. Yes, the infamous Bibble features in this film.

ANSWER: Barbie: Mermaidia [accept Barbie Fairytopia: Mermaidia]
2. This film with a Spanish name is set in the city of Flutterfield which is attacked by the monstrous Skeezites who want to consume all of the butterfly fairies. Despite having no relevance to the story, Bibble is somehow in this one too.

ANSWER: Barbie: Mariposa [accept Barbie: Mariposa and her Butterfly Fairy Friends]
3. What if your parents turned to stone, your best friend was a polar bear, and your sister was a horse? You'd be Annika, the main character of this film which was released in 3D on DVD, complete with a pair of red and blue cardboard glasses. It contains original music by Brie Larson, for some reason. Bibble is not in this one. Bibble is dead, long live Bibble.

ANSWER: Barbie and the Magic of the Pegasus

<Emma>

Let's run a country with mama. For 10 points each: Answer some questions about heads of state who gave birth while in office.
This part Sindhi, part Kurdish Pakistan People's Party leader was the first prime minister to ever give birth during a term.
ANSWER: Benazir Bhutto
Bhutto did well in her O-levels and came to study at this sister college of Harvard named for benefactor Lady Anne Moulson.
ANSWER: Radcliffe College
The only other world leader to give birth in office was this labour leader. This politician enacted stricter gun laws in response to the Christchurch mosque shootings.
ANSWER: Jacinda Ardern

For ten points each: answer the falling questions about important days in fandom that coincided with major sociopolitical events across the globe.

1. On November 5th 2020, Joe Biden was elected President of the United States, Vladimir Putin was rumored to have been ousted as the leader of Russia, and this popular ship became canon Spanish, unrequited (neutral) in English, and unrequited (homophobic) in German. Following these events, one character got sent to turbo hell and the other reunited with his car in heaven after being impaled on a rusty nail.

ANSWER: Destiel [accept Dean Winchester and Castiel]

2. On September 8th, 2022 the annual Tumblr Sexyman Poll concluded with the victory of Sans from Undertale. This result appears to have killed this world leader, who is rumored to have been reincarnated as Trisha Paytas' baby, who may now have beef with Jungkook, who is rumored to be the reincarnation of Princess Diana.

ANSWER: Queen Elizabeth II (accept the Queen of England)

3. On 4/20 2025, another Tumblr Sexyman Poll resulted in the triumph of Stan Pines over Dr. Doofenshmirtz and the death of another major global figure who perished the day after meeting with JD Vance. Hilariously, the death of this figure triggered an event depicted in a best picture nominated film of the same year.

ANSWER: Pope Francis [accept the Pope]
<Emma>